

Original Agony Song – Summer 2020

Verse 1: Peter (Faith/Sight)

Lifted to glory, the sun bowed
Wrapped in a boundless light
Build you an altar, make you a crown
I saw the man divine

Could I believe my eyes?

But here the garden grows in me
A doubt I cannot speak
Seal off my senses, this must be a dream
My eyes, my faith, retreat

Verse 2: James (Hope/Hearing)

You know I kept my word to you
Listened to what you said
I heard the message through and through
It came from overheard

Could I believe my ears?

Now in the dark my hope recedes
Sunk down into the dirt
Your terror sings a lullaby (song?) of grief
And quiet fills the earth

Verse 3: John (Love/Touch)

When we left that mountain top
On my lips a question mark
But your touch unraveled every knot
And stitched the broken parts

Could I believe my heart?

You stand tonight a man eclipsed
Blood streams across your cheeks
If only I could shake fear's grip
I'd hold you while you weep
